Hello!

I'm a senior graphic designer and UX/UI designer from Hungary currently living and working in Prague, Czech Republic.

When I was a child I wanted to be a LEGO designer who creates new official sets, like so many other kids. Now I am a little bit different kind of a designer, but I still like to make new things from my existing LEGO parts and pieces at home. To this day, I often use this way of thinking and methodology in my design processes as a professional digital designer working on comprehensive solutions that perfectly meet both user and business needs. I designed 80+ unique websites and apps in my career from small to large companies in Hungary, the European Union, and in the United States.

In the last few years I have specialized in UX/UI design, and I also have a broad experience in frontend development and designing printed products.
